

The brain you had before our security gap analysis?

You don't get that brain back.

Real security doesn't come in a box. It's why a Sussman security gap analysis is no tick the box exercise. Our gap analyses are holistic. Our team of military, intelligence and security experts consider the country you're in and its geopolitics. We look at your workforce. We probe and test for security gaps in your technology, in your policies and procedures. We put boots on the ground, take the stairs and bring flashlights, because there's risk in only doing an assessment from behind a desk. Our reports are tight, concise, visual and designed to be easily understood by your leadership and workforce alike. They're brain changers.
